The Chaminade Club of Yonkers will hear a program of music by Gail Manners, soprano, and Joseph Sopher, tenor, at their meeting tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Andrus Memorial Home.

Miss Manners started her professional career at the age of ten with her own radio program in Akron, Ohio, her home town. At thirteen she gave her first concert in one of Akron's concert halls and later at 17 was soloist with the WTAM symphony, which was heard over the National Broadcasting system from Cleveland.

In addition to her vocal studies in Akron, the soprano studied ballet for seven years. She came to New York for further study and soon was selected for several leading roles in operetta and musical comedy.

While in Louisville, Ky., with the Starlight Opera Company, she met her husband, Walter Cassel, a leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Since then they have appeared together in light and grand opera and on the concert stage.

Miss Manners has made three cross-country tours as featured soloist with the late Sigmund Romberg and his orchestra, has been guest artist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra in Robin Hood Dell, appeared with the New Orleans, San Francisco and Grant Park symphony orchestras, and made many television appearances.

Mr. Sopher won the Enrico Caruso Award of the National Federation of Music Clubs in 1960 as the possessor of a "vibrant and beautiful tenor voice," which has already become familiar to millions of listeners via the Voice of Firestone, and other radio and TV programs.

In 1958, the tenor at the age of 24 stepped into the operatic limelight as the leading tenor in Virgil Thomson's "The Mother of Us All." As a result of this several important singing roles followed. He has appeared as soloist with many symphony orchestras and his list of oratorios has grown to upwards of 25 works, ranging from Bach to Verdi as well as several moderns.

A native of Baltimore, Mr. Sopher studied music at the Peabody Institute and received his degree in singing at the age of 20. He also is an accomplished pianist, having studied during childhood with his mother a concert pianist.

Miss Manners, who will be accompanied by Archie Black, will sing: "Nuit d'Etioles," "Beau Soir," and "Lias Aris," "L'Enfant Prodigue," all by Debussy; "Waldseligkeit," by Joseph Marx, and "Dich Theure Halle," "Tandhauser," by Wagner.

Also, "The Piper," by John Duke; "A Maiden," by Christopher Thomas; "The Blue Madonna," by John Jacob Niles, and "The Czardas," "The Fledermaus," by Johann Strauss.

Accompanied by Ilse Sass, Mr. Sopher will sing: "La Violette," by Scarlatti; "Adieu," by Faure; "Du Bist Wie Eine Blume," by Schumann, and "Adelaide," by von Beethoven.

Also, "My Lovely Cecilia," by Munro; "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," by Quilter; "Clorinda," by Orlando Morgan, and "Dei Miei Bollelli," "La Traviata," by Verdi.

Together the guest artists will sing, "Stranger in Paradise," from "Kismet" by Wright and Forrest, and "Song of Love," from "Blossom Time," by Romberg.

Mrs. John Markey will be acting chairman.
