Conditions Called 'Unsanitary' At Scene Of Fire

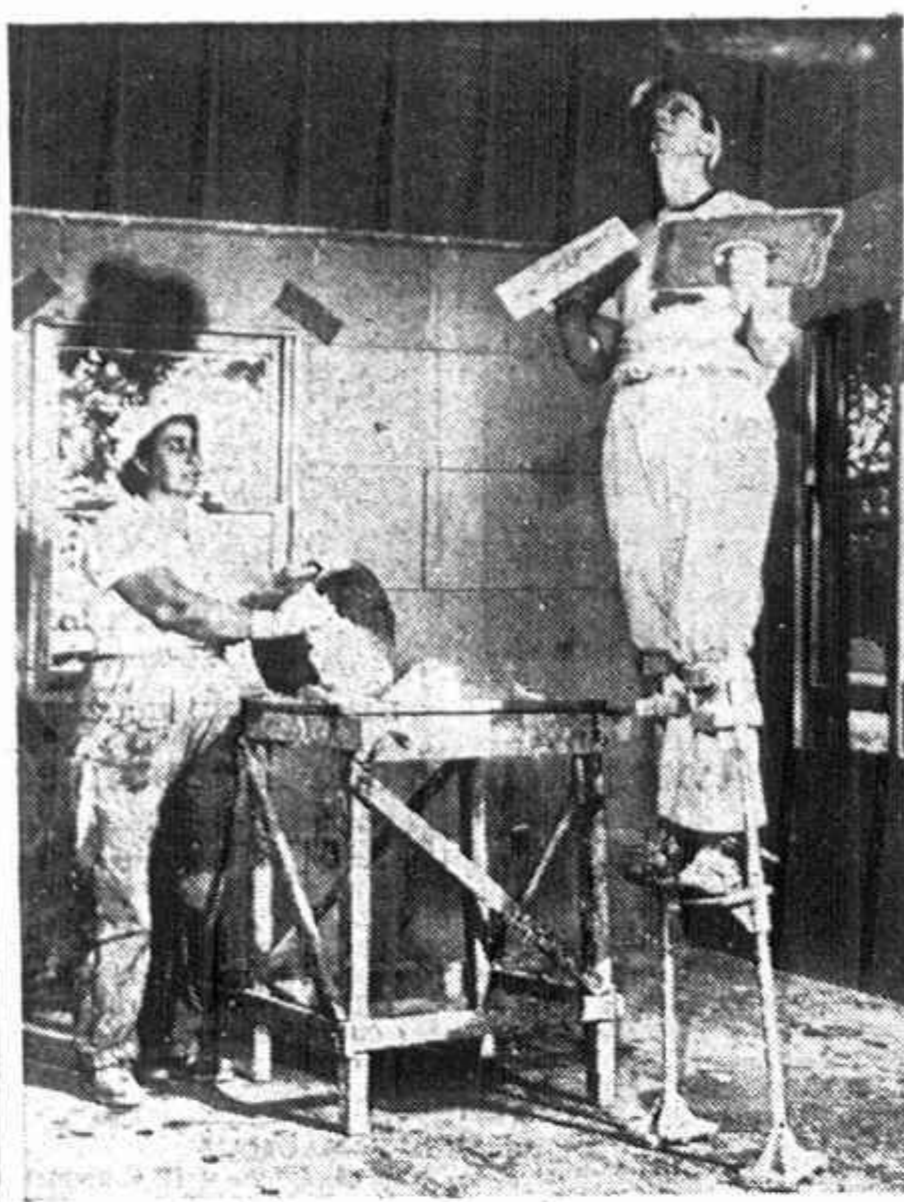

The Eighth Ward Democratic Club will ask City Manager Charles L. Curran to remedy what it calls "unsanitary and dangerous conditions" at 3 Lawrence Street, scene of a three-alarm fire several months ago.

At a club meeting Monday night at 37 Lawrence Street, Chester B. Arthur, president, was requested to confer with Mr. Curran on the matter.

Club members living near 3 Lawrence Street said that unpleasant odors come from water-soaked bedding and other household articles and that the chimney is tilted perilously and is a potential danger to pedestrians.

Ward Leader Charles B. Duffy spoke on behalf of Mr. Arthur, Democratic candidate for Supervisor.

New York City had 1,052,000 people over sixty-five-years-old compared to 176,230 in 1920.

Stilts And Hod-Carrying Wife

HERE IS one woman who jumps when her husband calls. Mrs. L. C. Blumenstock is a hod carrier and works for her husband, a plasterer. Mr. Blumenstock is a considerate husband, however, and work from special stilts so that his wife doesn't have to carry those heavy scaffolds around. AP Wirephoto.
