JERZY BIGOSINSKI

Cruise Story Heard By Masonic Veterans

Freemasons of Portsmouth, England, joined with other residents of that city to welcome 5,200 visiting Americans of the United States Navy and a dozen civilians when 10 warships glided into that harbor early this Summer for a "hands-across-the-sea visit," about 50 members of the Yonkers Masonic Veterans Association were told Saturday night by Oxie Reichler, Editor of The Herald Statesman.

Introduced by John W. Pruyn, Mr. Reichler related his experiences aboard the USS Missouri, flagship of the task force, during an 11,000-mile tour for the training of midshipmen. The speaker told how, as a Secretary of the Navy guest, he not only observed life and work aboard the warships but also in several of the naval installations abroad, including Cuba.

Polish Youth Now Living Here At Illinois U. On Scholarship

Jerzy Bigosinski, twenty-year-old displaced person sponsored by Lieutenant and Mrs. Henry L. Fiedorowicz of 46 Boone Street, yesterday began his studies at the University of Illinois on a scholarship.

The young native of Warsaw, Poland, is a distant relative of Mrs. Fiedorowicz. He came to America by plane, landing at Idlewild Airport July 10. Two days later, he enrolled in the Summer School classes at Commerce High School to prepare for his college course.

At the age of fourteen he was a member of the Polish underground. Later he participated in the Warsaw uprising, in which irregulars held off the Nazi mechanized army for 62 days with only hand weapons. He was wounded three times. His entire group was taken prisoner and brought to a camp inside Germany.

After his liberation by United States forces, the boy continued his studies at the Hamburg University in the British Zone, winning high scholastic honors.

He left the Fiedorowicz home by train Saturday afternoon for college.

Lieutenant Fiedorowicz, a World War I veteran, served in the New York National Guard and New York Guard for 25 years. He is an inspector in the State Labor Department.

Budget To Rise With New Rochelle In Welfare Unit

Bookkeeping changes in allocations of relief and welfare costs which will result from the entry of New Rochelle into the County Unit Plan on Jan. 1 will cause an apparent $2.5 million increase in the 1950 county budget, but will not represent an increase in taxes, Budget Director William B. Folger reports.

All other cities and towns of Westchester are already in the unit plan under which the Public Welfare Commissioner is responsible for the administration of all types of relief.

When New Rochelle enters the plan the change will add about $800,000 to the gross County budget and New Rochelle's gross budget will be reduced correspondingly. The net cost of relief in New Rochelle, some $265,000, will appear in the County tax levy instead of locally, and the balance, New Rochelle's portion of County tax for welfare previously separately identified, will be merged into the State and County tax levy.
